DIVORCE FOR DESERTION Gertrude Marie Lennon Mc-Cann of Bridgeport was granted a di-corce from H. Eugene McCann of New York, former manager of the New Lork, former manager of the New London baseball team, in the su-perior court in Bridgeport this week, by Judge John E. Keeler. Desertion was the ground of the divorce and Mrs. McCann was allowed to resume her maiden name of Lennon. The ac-tion was not contested by Mr. Mo-Cann.

Mrs. McCann testified that she mar-ried McCann on Oct. 25, 1914, and that the desertion took place on June 20, 1916. She said that her husband was frequently drunk and that he treated her brutally, often threatening to send her away from the hotel in New London at which they were living.

She said that on one occasion when she paid $5 more for a dress than he thought she should have spent, he took the garment, tore it to pleces and threw it out the window. On June 20, 1918, on their return from the Yale-Harvard boat races on the Thames, while she was in ill health, he ejected her out of her apartment and did not permit her to return. She returned to her former home in Bridgeport, where she has lived ever since.

Mrs. McCann is a Bridgeport girl and was employed in a clerical capacity in a business office at the time she married the defendant in 1914. the desertion took place on June 20,
